PROVIDENCE:
KNOWLES, ANTHONY & CO., CITY PRINTERS.
1863.

TO COIN COLLECTORS.

A few gentlemen of this City, being deeply interested in the science of Numismatics, and desiring that the interest in the preservation of rare coins should not be allowed to abate, have taken this form of introducing to the Collectors of Providence and vicinity, the following very superior lot of Coins, Medals, &c.

They would desire to call particular attention to the Washington Cents, as also to the rare Colonial Coins, trusting that the trouble taken in the collection of these pieces may not go unrewarded.

They have not entered into this sale on a spirit of speculation, but purely as an incentive to the exertions of others in this interesting branch of history.

To many of the Collectors it may seem as if several of the pieces were overrated, but where an 1804 Cent might be called poor, a Washington Cent of the same condition relatively would be called fine, which being taken into consideration, they think that the Catalogue may be taken as a fair description of the pieces.

Persons not able to attend the sale, may have their orders fairly attended to by addressing the Auctioneer.

Parties receiving Catalogues will please preserve the same for use at the sale, as the number printed is limited.
